FILIPINOS RELIEF

Is Asked for and Urged by President Roosevelt

In a Special Message to Congress--Three Millions of Dollars Needed to Help the Sick and Starving Natives.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8— The President yesterday astonished Congress by emphasizing the destitute condition of the Filipinos with a special message requesting an immediate appropriation of $3,000,000 for the benefit of the insular treasury. The island Government has hitherto been self-supporting, and this is the first cent of money demanded from the home government. The local postoffices, quarantine, customs and other revenue departments are under the absolute jurisdiction of the commission, which is the legislative body for the islands, and have no connection with or support from the United States Government.

The strongest argument in favor of this quasi-indipendent Government, confirmed by the Lodge act of last summer, was the fact that under it the commission would be able to answer the strongest objection of the natives to foreign government; that of not seeing where and for what their money was spent. The War Department and the Philippine authorities, in their annual and special reports, have hitherto emphasized this self-supporting condition as one of their strongest claims to consideration, and Administration partisans feel that the trans-Pacific system has lost its best card.

Anti-Administration men say: "If this year $3,000,000, why not $6,000,000 next? What right have we to suppose that these conditions will not continue and cause a constant and increasing drain upon our Treasury for the benefit of these islanders, who do not put a cent into it?"

The message of the President was in connection with the transmission to Congress of the third annual report of the Philippine Commission, and was as follows:

"I call your special attention to the recommendations contained in this letter of the Secretary of War. I most earnestly feel that the enactment of the measures already pending in your body for the betterment of the Phillippine Islands is imperatively demanded by the situation in those islands, and serious calamity may come from failure to enact them. Furthermore, I with equal earnestness ask your attention to the recommendation of the Secretary of War in the accompanying letter, and urge its adoption, so that the sum of money therein specified may be appropriated for the uses and in the manner likewise specified, in order that the present distress in the islands may be remedied.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"White House, Jan. 7, 1903."

Secretary Root in his letter to the President says:

"I beg to ask special consideration of the recommendations of the commission, all of which have my hearty approval.

"It seems to me the conditions resulting from the destruction by rinderpest of 90 per cent of the carabaos, the draught animals of the islands, and the consequent failure of the rye crop, followed by an epidemic of cholera, are so seriously and distressing as to call for action by Congress beyond that for which the commission specifically asks. The removal under the laws of Congress of export duties on goods shipped from the Philippines to the United States has materially reduced the revenues of the islands, while the duties collected in the United States upon importations from the Philippines, which, under the same laws, were to be turned over to the Philippine Treasury, and were expected to make good the deficit, have amounted to practically nothing. At the same time the decline in the price of silver, the evils of a fluctuating currency and the impoverishment of the people have reduced the Government revenues when they are the most needed for the relief of the people.

"I think the occasion for the relief of the people in the Philippines is now greater than it was in Cuba when Congress appropriated $3,000,000 for the payment of the Cuban soldiers out of the Treasury of the United States, or than it was in Puerto Rico when hundreds of thousands of dollars were contributed by the people of the United States, and more than a million dollars paid out of the National Treasury for the relief of the suffering from the hurricane of August, 1899.

"An appropriation of not less than three million dollars for the relief of the distress in the Philippine Islands from the causes which I have mentioned would be in harmony with the course pursued by Congress toward the people of the other Spanish islands, and practical evidence of the sincere interest that the people of the United States take in the welfare of the Philippine people and of the kindly and generous treatment which they are to receive. Previous experience indicates that such an appropriation could be made the most useful by giving the Philippine Government discretion to apply it in such proportions as they deem wise in the direct purchase and distribution and sale of supplies, or through the employment of labor in the construction of Government wagon roads, railroads or other public works."

SWALLOWED DRUG

But Doctors Saved Life of Young Man Who Had Been Jilted--Harvard Senior Became Despondent Over Love.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Walter A. Hall of the Harvard class of 1903, well known in New York and Boston, swallowed morphine and fell in a stupor last night. On his coat was pinned a placard reading: "Morphine eases my agony. Let me sleep." Simultaneously with Hill's attempt a Boston newspaper received a complete story of his life, presumably written by himself, which says he was beloved by all, was a great athlete, belonged to rich and influential family, was clever and unassuming and that he had been jilted. He was pumped out and will live.

In a Critical Attitude.

Some people seem to be born in an unhappy frame of mind. They cannot admire excellency without making some comment on deficiencies. With them the "times are always out of joint." They are simply in a critical attitude, and nothing except grumbling will satisfy their morbid condition, says the Pittsburg Dress. They remind one very forcibly of the old lady who, when she was asked how she felt, replied that she felt better, but that when she felt better she always felt worse, as she knew if she felt better she was going to have a worse spell again.

PANAMA CANAL

Germany Would Like to Control the Waterway

Scheming With Colombia Is Not Approved by the United States and Germany May Be So Told.

Washington, Jan. 8.—In official circles here it is admitted this morning that there is a foundation to the statement that Germany is endeavoring to euchre the United States out of control of the Panama canal. Recent cablegrams from Europe have indicated that a syndicate composed principally of German capitalists, stood ready to pay forty million dollars for the property of the Panama Canal company as soon as the option of the United States expires March 4th next. Germany has been intriguing with Colombia and the state officials are much perturbed. It is probable that Germany will be notified that her ambitions in Panama are looked upon with disfavor by the United States.

NON-UNION SIDE

Evidence Presented to the Strike Commission Today by Wives of Men Who Worked During the Strike.

Philadelphia, Jan. 8—Examination of nonunion men and members of their families who claim to have been assaulted and otherwise abused by the strikers was resumed today by the strike commission. The first witness to take the stand today was Mrs. Millie Stevenson of Silver Creek whose husband is assistant breaker boss in the Brookside colliery. She told how herself and husband had been assaulted by a crowd of strikers near New Philadelphia on September 11. They were stoned she declared and her husband was knocked down three times and kicked so badly that internal injuries were sustained which had almost incapacitated him from work. When she had sought to protect him she was seized and abused.

Mrs. Robert Robinson testified that her brother in law, James Lewis, the president of the miners' local union, was the worst of the crowd that stoned her house and insulted her because her husband kept at work in the mines. She said she drove Lewis away once with a gun and the next time with a rock. Herself and family were boycotted at the stores.

On the witness stand before the strike commission today President Mitchell testified that three miners convicted of the murder of Daniel Sweeney belonged to the union.

WHOLLY AT HANNA'S MERCY.

The Republicans of Ohio are as submissive as the Republicans of Pennsylvania. They allow themselves to be bossed in large affairs and small by one man, and that man is Mark Hanna.

He has spoken the word, and Myron T. Herrick is to be the Republican nominee for governor of Ohio. There will be no protest, no opposition worth mentioning. The state convention will meekly do the bidding of the boss and nominate a man who is in no way entitled to political honors.

General Dick, who is a master of state politics and who should have an organization that would enable him to boss instead of being bossed, had to take his medicine. Foraker would like to fight but he dare not. Cox is not likely to antagonize Hanna. The big Clevelander has supreme control. It is a humiliating spectacle.

At the same time Dick knows how it is to become benevolently assimilated.

ADDICKS SHOULD BE DEFEATED.

Addicks, of Delaware, the notorious briber and corruptionist, is making another desperate fight to break into the United States Senate. The opposition against him in the Delaware legislature promises to show more strength than ever an dthere is some hope that the state will not be disgraced by being represented in the senate by such a man.

The Addicks supporters have confidence, however, owing to the evidence of friendship recently displayed by President Roosevelt. He practically recognized the Addicks faction as the regular organization. In so doing he played politics. He wanted the support of the Delaware delegation in the national convention and he figured he could get it from the Addicks gang.

The Democrats in the Delaware legislature have the chance to defeat Addicks by joining forces with the Republican insurgents. It is usually policy for the minority to let the majority fight its own battles, but in this case it would be doing a service to the country to defeat Addicks. The Senate is bad enough with its Quays, Platts and Hannas, but it would be far worse with an Addicks in it.

TOO MUCH INTEREST

This is how a reporter dictated a "story." The typewriter girl was seated at her machine, the newspaper man was sorting out his notes, and the door was closed so as to leave them undisturbed.

"Now, if you will please begin," the newspaper man said. "'In these days of stern reality and suffering and struggle for existence a romantic episode comes upon one with the refreshing delight with which a traveler in a desert beholds an oasis.'"

Clickety-clickety-click went the keys, and then

"Isn't that lovely! Is it going to be a novel?"

The newspaper man looked up in amazement, but it was utterly impossible to be angry with such blue eyes regarding him in admiration.

"No," he said. "Please go on. 'In the monotonous routine of Tombs police court cases, however, there was one yesterday behind which lay a story so romantic and so picturesque that it would almost seem to have been created by a great novelist who had striven to excel all his past efforts.'"

When this had been recorded, and while the newspaper man was wondering what he would say next, the young lady, smiling most radiantly, prattled on in this fashion:

"That's just splendid. It sounds like a real novel. Did you ever read 'Clarissa; or, The Forlorn Hope?' It begins something like that, only it isn't so interesting. Do you know, I never took dictation like that before. The last place I worked in I had nothing to do but copy letters. Oh, dear, wasn't it tiresome, though!"

The newspaper man felt his collar getting too small, but after swallowing something that seemed to stick in his throat he said as gently as possible:

"Won't you please go on? I'm in somewhat of a hurry. What have you got there?"

"Where?" in great surprise.

"I mean, please read over what I dictated.

"Oh, how stupid I am! 'In these days of stern reality'—how do you pronounce that word—in two syllables or three? Thank you—'stern reality and suffering'"—

And she read what she had written. Then, just as the newspaper man had settled back in his chair, determined to dictate to the end without giving her another opportunity to interrupt him, she said:

"Excuse me, I think my hair is coming down."

She went to a little mirror in a corner of the room, examined her hair carefully, and then, after touching up the puffs of her sleeves and smoothing her waist, she sighed and returned to her seat.

"There, now; I'm all ready."

For the next few minutes she had to work so hard ~~that she~~ hadn't time to say a single word. But soon the page was filled, and she had to insert a new sheet, and that was her opportunity.

"Gracious! How fast you dictate! It almost takes my breath away. But do you know I like it. I think it's good practice. Were you there when all that happened? My! I wish I could be a reporter."

The newspaper man went on with his dictation. He was fast growing hopping mad, but he hadn't the heart to say a harsh word to the girl. She was really very pretty, and as she became interested in the story a delicate flush mantled her cheeks, and it was a positive pleasure to watch her. But a newspaper man has no time for pleasure during his business hours, and these charms did not interest him as much as they might have done under other circumstances, so he struggled bravely on.

"Oh," she suddenly exclaimed, stopping in the middle of a sentence, "did that really happen?"

"Yes, yes! Will you please go on?"

"Well, the idea! I wouldn't have believed it. Do you know, I don't believe half what I read in the papers, but of course if you say so it must be true."

"I'm very sorry I can't chat with you, Miss Brown, but really I'm in a great hurry."

"Oh, I beg your pardon! I forgot all about that."

For nearly ten minutes there was not a break in the dictation, save where a sheet became full and a fresh one had to be inserted. The typewriter kept her lips firmly pressed together, as if she were exerting all her strength to keep silent. It was clear to see that it could not last much longer. In the middle of a paragraph she suddenly stopped and with a brief "Excuse me for a moment" left the room. In a few seconds she returned with her jaws moving conclusively and a piece of chewing gum in her hand.

"Won't you have some?" she asked politely.

"N-n-o—and—I'll tell you what—er—I guess I won't have time to finish this story today. I'll come back some other time."

"Oh, you're not going, are you? I'm awfully sorry. I was just getting interested in the story."

"Very sorry—er—how much? Here. All right. Good day!"

And seizing the few sheets that lay on the desk the newspaper man went away and finished the story with a pen.

The Number of "the Beast."

Vitringa says that 666, the number of the beast (Revelation xiii, 18), probably had some mythical or hidden connection with the "children of Adonikam, 666," mentioned by Ezra in the second chapter and thirteenth verse. Dr. Lightfoot, and writing on that mysterious name "Setinur" (Numbers xiii, 13), says that in Hebrew numerals it is 666 and means mystery. Dr. Kenealy says that 666 in Greek letters is Chi-xi-ban and that it was the name of the Americas before Atlantis sank.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

The Source of Best Clover Seed.

In co-operation with the United States department of agriculture the Maine agricultural experiment station has during the past season conducted a comparative study of red clover obtained from different parts of the world. The object of this study is to determine, if possible, the best source from which to obtain seed for general farm purposes. To this end the questions considered were: Rate and per cent of germination, date of blooming and consequent earliness of crop, date of cutting, yield per acre and general condition of the stand.

Some striking differences were noted, but of course no general conclusions can be drawn from one season's work. Seed was sown May 19 on fifty-eight plots of two square rods each. The first bloom was noted Aug. 2, on plots with the seed from England, Russia, Nebraska, Tennessee, Iowa and Missouri. The first plots ready for harvest (cut just in bloom) were those from Indiana and one lot from Bohemia. The largest yields were obtained, in the order given, from plots with seed from Bohemia, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Brittany and Ohio. Plants from American seed were invariably very hairy, while those from European seed were almost as invariably smooth. The experiment will be continued through another growing season, and the results will be given in detail in a station bulletin.

A Round Type of Seckel Pear.

A peculiar type of Seckel pear was brought to the office of the American Agriculturist by Fruit Grower C. L. Allen of Long Island. The pear is nearly round and in general shape resembles that of an apple or sand pear. In color, quality and other characteristics it is a typical Seckel. It was grown in the orchard of William F. Searing, Cayuga county, N. Y. Mr. Allen says that Mr. Searing has grown Seckels successfully for many years and has just noted this peculiar type on one limb of each of two trees. The pears on the other trees in the orchard are of the normal type. This peculiar variation is about the average size of the ordinary Seckel and possesses in a very marked degree all the characteristics of the true type, with the exception of its general form and shape. The skin is a brownish green, later turning to a rich yellowish brown, with a deep red cheek. The stem is rather short, while the calyx end is quite distinctly marked. The flesh is fine grained, sweet, juicy and very agreeable to the taste.

Weather Predictions at Your Door.

New developments are taking place in the free mail delivery service. The latest suggestion is to convey the weather predictions through some kind of weather signals taken out by the carriers. Where the plan has been tried it has been welcomed by farmers along the route. The difficulty is in getting the predictions early enough to go out with the carriers. Of 3,060 rural delivery offices it has been found that only about 750 can be conveniently arranged to deliver forecasts. Averaging two carriers to an office means 1,500 carriers who could deliver forecast cards to 150,000 farmers' families. This would make a fair start, and it would doubtless be found that other places can make arrangements to improve the service in this direction.—American Cultivator.

Poultry For the Farmer.

None is so well situated for growing poultry profitably as the farmer. He who buys his feed and spends many weary hours in labor to properly care for a flock of confined birds must calculate to a nicety all the elements of cost, as well as receipts. The poultry products sold by the farmer are practically all profit, for his fowls fatten on what would otherwise be wasted, and their wide range insures health and prolificacy. The grain thrown to the fowls amounts to little, for at night their crops are already well filled with seeds and insects, and but little addition is needed. The farms are and always will be the chief source of the market supply of poultry products.

Valuable Reports.

A number of experiment stations are charged with enforcing the laws relating to the sale of concentrated stock feeds. Once a year they publish a report giving the composition of all the feeds on the market. For the man who buys feed this is the most important bulletin of the year, although its columns of figures may appear dry. The real character of the feeds is apparent, and by a careful study of the analyses it is easily possible to compound the most economical ration. Preserve these reports and use them.—American Agriculturist.

Take Care of the Fertility.

It is time farmers were giving more attention to the preservation of the fertility of their fields. Steady cropping in the old method will surely exhaust them sooner or later. This bad end is soon reached on sandy uplands, but should not be reached on any. By green manuring and other fertilizing the soil may be steadily improved. This requires work, but it is work that pays, and pay is what most people work for. Some work for pay they never get. Farmers who impoverish their soils by bad farming are losers in the end.

Heavy "Truck" Production.

A million head of lettuce per year are grown under glass by W. W. Rawson, the big Massachusetts market gardener. Cucumbers are grown at a cost of a cent each—that is, it costs about $6,000 a year to run the cucumber houses, and 600,000 "cukes" are produced each year. About 2,000 per day are grown in March, 4,000 in April, 10,000 in May and 15,000 in June. His largest day's picking was 5,000 "cukes."

THE WEELITTLES IN NEW YORK.

FIND THEIR LADY ACQUAINTANCE.

FIRST OF ALL EVICTIONS.

Magyar Version of the Expulsion From the Garden of Eden.

Among the folklore of the peasantry of Roumania and some of the adjoining Magyar states of eastern Europe is found the story of the expulsion of our first parents from the garden of Eden. It runs thus:

When Adam and Eve fell, God sent Gabriel, the Magyar angel, to turn them out of Eden as a punishment for their sin. Gabriel was received most courteously, food and drink of the best being set before him. Now, Gabriel had a kind heart and took pity upon the poor folk and would not accept their hospitality, remembering his errand. So he returned and begged that some one else be sent to evict the sinners, as he really could not do it. The Raphael, the Roumanian angel, was sent and was received as Gabriel had been. He, however, was very fond of a good dinner, and so he sat down and thoroughly enjoyed himself. The feast over, he told the erring pair his errand. They at once began to weep most piteously and beg for mercy. Their bitter sorrow so touched his after dinner heart that he, too, returned and asked that some one else be sent, as he could not possibly turn out the poor folk after accepting their hospitality. Then it was that Michael, the German angel, was sent. He was received as the others by the trembling pair and treated even more sumptuously. He sat down and enjoyed himself till the last morsel of food had vanished and there wasn't a drop of liquor left. Then he arose, and, turning to his host and hostess, said, "Now, then, out you go, and be quick about it." Most piteously did Adam and Eve beg at least for time, even reminding him that he had partaken of their bread. All in vain. Thus it was that our first parents were driven out of Eden.

BULLETS AS EVIDENCE.

Odd Facts Developed by Their Prominence In Murder Trials.

The important part played in many murder trials by a flattened and misshapen bit of lead or steel, once in the form of a bullet, often leads to the development of some curious facts, says the Baltimore American. A leaden bullet will lose appreciably in weight by being fired, and the form of the barrel may tend to reduce its size. In a rifle some of the lead is taken off by the grooves. The friction also heats and tends to partially melt the outside of the ball, and because of this it changes its shape in the air.

One peculiar fact about a bullet is that it will very often make a wound of entry smaller than the projectile itself even in so brittle a substance as glass. Another strange fact about a bullet is that it will often pass through intervening clothing, making a hole that can hardly be noticed, and yet carry on its point a circular piece of cloth. The carrying of bits of clothing, hair or dirt into wounds in such a manner greatly enhances the dangers of peritonitis. Were it not for this latter contact the bullet would not be nearly so dangerous, as its rapid flight and heating make it practically sterile.

Blackened edges of wounds are more likely to have been caused by a lead bullet, although the ball with a lead tip could also produce this result. Regarding powder stains, smokeless or otherwise, nothing of great value is to be gained when the shooting occurs at a distance greater than twelve or fifteen feet. At a recent trial a doctor stated that from powder marks on the face he judged that the shot had been fired at a distance of not more than three feet, which conclusion was later backed up by the assertion made on the stand by the prisoner himself.

DO NOT WANT STEEL STOCK

Homestead Plant Employees Condemns Trust's Profit Sharing Plan.

Employees of the Homestead plant of the United States Steel corporation at Pittsburg interviewed the other day regarding the scheme of the concern to share its profits with its employees expressed themselves as decidedly opposed to the proposition, says the New York Herald.

The Homestead works employ about 7,000 men who are entitled to the profit sharing. Not one of the twenty interviewed favored the move and each condemned it.

The men gave many reasons why the plan would not be a good thing. One of these was that, under the proposition submitted, the amount of stock that the majority of the workmen can buy is limited to a few shares. According to the circular, a thousand dollar employee can subscribe for but $150 worth of stock. The workmen assert that only the department and general superintendents who draw large salaries will be able to purchase enough stock to make an investment worth the while.

Another objection raised is that the stock if bought on installments will not be delivered until five years after the employee has purchased it and that if he leaves the service of the corporation before that time he practically loses his dividends on his stock. The objectors assert that the five year provision is virtually a contract to hold them in the company's service for that length of time.

They say that it would destroy their independence in case of a dispute making a strike necessary. Two of the opinions expressed by the men are as follows:

C. O. Poster, who draws a salary of $1,700—I believe that we can do better by leaving our money in a savings bank than by putting a part of it in Steel stock and not being able to get the stock for five years.

Edward Cox, employed for twelve years at Homestead—I do not think it would be wise for men to draw their money from the bank and invest it in stocks.

LESLIE SHAW'S SOBRIQUET.

Farmers Out In Iowa Call the Secretary "Apple Tree" Shaw.

Very few people know that Secretary Shaw of the treasury department is familiarly referred to out in Iowa as "Apple Tree" Shaw, or if they ever heard of his sobriquet are ignorant of the way he obtained it, says a Washington special to the St. Louis Republic.

When Mr. Shaw was a young man, making a struggling effort to obtain an education, little dreaming that he would ever be a member of the president's cabinet, he used to be the agent for a nursery. In vacation season he canvassed one county after another, selling trees to farmers. His specialty was apple trees.

He was the best salesman the nursery firm had, and it is said of him that he is responsible for half the apple crop of Iowa. It is no unusual thing for the average Hawkeye farmer to point with pride to the long rows of apple trees in his orchard, bowed heavy with luscious fruit, and say that "Apple Tree" Shaw sold him the trees.

"Huh! You don't know 'Apple Tree' Shaw? Reckon you never had a right smart of dealings lately with the United States treasury, for 'Apple Tree' Shaw, he's the man that's running that institution down in Washington just now."

The future secretary of the treasury rarely ever approached a farmer with an available piece of ground and failed to make a sale. His genial manners won him customers, as they have won him friends and supporters in after life, and there is many a man in Iowa who set out an orchard because Mr. Shaw made him buy the trees, even though he did not think he wanted them, who now is mighty glad he was induced to purchase them.

A Freak of Nature.

William Heitz of Egg Harbor City, N. J., is the possessor of a curious freak of nature. It is a piece of flint corn which nature has molded into a right hand. All five fingers are wonderfully well formed and are in such a position that a baseball would just fit into their clutches. This ear of corn was the only one on the stalk, which was in a large field.

THE MATRON'S SPEECH.

Eloquence That Quelled a Riot In a Military Hospital.

In the "Memories of a Hospital Matron" a writer in the Atlantic Monthly, who was head of a Confederate hospital during the war, relates this exciting incident:

"Our steward, a meek little man, came to me one day, pale with fright, and said that the convalescents had stormed the bakery, taken out the half cooked bread and scattered it about the yard, beaten the baker and threatened to hang the steward. I hurried to the scene to throw myself into the breach before the surgeon should arrive with the guard and arrest the offenders. I found the new bakery leveled to the ground and 200 excited men clamoring for the bread which, they declared, the steward withheld from them from meanness or stole for his own benefit.

"'And what do you say of the matron?' I asked, rushing among them. 'Do you think that she, through whose hands the bread must pass, is a party to the theft? Do you accuse me, who have nursed you through months of illness, making you chicken soup when we had not seen a chicken for a year, forcing an old breastbone to do duty for months for those unreasonable fellows who wanted to see the chicken; me, who gave you a greater variety in peas than was ever known before and who lately stewed your rats when the cook refused to touch them? And this is your gratitude! You tear down my bakehouse, beat my baker and want to hang my steward!'

"To my surprise the angry men laughed and cheered. A few days later there came to me a 'committee' of two sheepish looking fellows to ask my acceptance of a ring. Each of the poor men had subscribed something from his pittance, and their old enemy, the steward, had been sent to town to make the purchase. Accompanying the ring was a bit of dirty paper on which was written. 'For our chief matron, in honor of her brave conduct on the day of the bread riot.'"

THE COOKBOOK.

To prevent eggs from cracking when they are boiling, place a pin in the saucepan.

If you get too much salt in the gravy, a pinch of brown sugar will remedy the saltness without hurting the gravy in the least.

When onions are of too strong flavor to be pleasant for sauce, boil a turnip with them, but remove it before using the onions.

Never fry more than six oysters at once unless you have a very large kettle of fat. If more are cooked, they will soak grease and take a long time to brown.

Don't forget that mincemeat is a great deal better to be made a week or ten days before it is to be used. The spices and cider, etc., have thus time to percolate the apple and meat.

Peanut salad is an excellent accompaniment for roast duck. Soak a cupful of peanut meats in olive oil, drain and mix lightly with two cupfuls of finely cut celery and a dozen pitted olives. Serve with mayonnaise dressing on lettuce leaves.

Plea For the Wooden Shoe.

"We have wisely taken to wearing sandals," says a Philadelphia physician. "I hope that before long we will learn the advantage of the wooden shoe, or sabot. Do you know that a great many diseases are due to leather shoes, due to the wearing all day long of tight leather that is often, in bad weather, water soaked? And do you know that by the wearing of wooden shoes, which keep the feet dry and which do not 'draw,' all those diseases might be avoided? I have several pairs of sabots, and so have my wife and children. They cost about 30 cents a pair and keep the feet dry, without cramping them or making them unhealthily tender. I believe that the wisest thing Americans could do would be to take up the sandal and the sabot, discarding altogether the shoe of leather."

Didn't Know About Cashboys.

Uncle Podunk (shopping in town, to saleswoman)—How much for them socks?

Saleswoman—Twenty-five cents a pair.

Uncle Podunk (putting his hand in his pocket)—All right. Gimme a pair.

Saleswoman—Yes, sir. Cash, here! C-a-a-a-s-h!

Uncle Podunk—Thunder and mud, woman! Ye needn't holler it so durn loud! I know it's cash here, an' ain't I feelin' fer it as fast as I kin?—New York Times.

Galvani's Discovery.

It is to the wife of Professor Galvini of Bologna that is due the credit of having discovered the electrical battery which bears his name. Some skinned frogs lay upon the table, and, noticing a convulsive movement in their limbs, she called her husband's attention to the strange fact, who instituted a series of experiments, and in 1791 he laid the foundation of the galvanic battery.

Their Luck.

"Just my luck," said Borem. "She's always out when I call."

"So she was telling me," said Miss Peppery.

"She told you the same thing, eh?"

"Yes. Only she said it was just her luck."—Philadelphia Press.

Hard Luck.

A MASS MEETING HELD TONIGHT

In the Interest of the Wehrle Proposition

People Urged to Attend and Hear Project Discussed.

It Is Endorsed by Leading Men of the City.

THE REASONS ARE GIVEN FOR QUICK ACTION

Unless 200 Lots are Sold in Next Seven Days the Enterprise Fails--Property Worth the Price.
A Great Benefit to Newark--
Attend the Meeting.

There is little new in the Wehrle-Thomas project today save that the Board of Trade directors are making an energetic effort to have tonight's mass meeting in the city hall an unqualified success, believing as they do that the critical point in determining the success or failure of the enterprise is at hand.

Inasmuch as just seven more days must tell the story of victory or defeat, the Board feels that success largely depends upon creating public sentiment in favor of the proposition immediately. There is not enough time for the committees to go to the people individually and solicit the sale of all the lots but if at a public gathering a large number can be assembled, then the statement there of the proposition in all its details will save the repetition of the story by the committees and will greatly facilitate the accomplishmnet of the task the Board has undertaken. It is not so much to sell lots that tonight's meeting is held as it is to acquant the public with every phase of the project and to let the people determine for themselves quickly whether or not they want two more factories that will employ 850 more men, add 3500 or 4000 to the city's population, and pay out in wages $75,000 every month.

While an opportunity will be given tonight for any one to subscribe for lots, it should be understood that nobody will be urged to do so and nobody will be at all embarrassed by attending the meeting even if he does not subscribe. What the Board wants is your presence. The Board feels that if you hear the whole story presented from every standpoint that you will be friendly to the project even if you can not subscribe for a lot. While you may not subscribe yourself you will be able to help the committee in finding buyers. If the Board had a month or even half a month to put this matter through it would be a different story, but the fact is it has only seven days including next Sunday to sell these lots and any who have undertaken such a task will appreciate the magnitude of the work even though all will admit that the proposition under consideration is by far the best and most business-like ever undertaken by the Newark Board of Trade.

It is oftentimes difficult to sell lots on such a plan to those who are most benefitted by the success of the enterprise and for that reason it is desired to awaken the public to a full realization of the importance of acting promptly by acquainting them with all the facts that tonight's meeing is held.

One leading business man of the city who attended the little meeting held Tuesday afternoon arose towards the end of the meeting and said: "Mr. President and gentlemen of the Board of Trade. I will freely admit that I came to this meeting after no little solicitation. I am convinced that I could not favor this project, but after hearing the matter presented so fully and frankly I want to say that I have changed my mind. I want to buy a lot, and I assure you that I will do everything in my power to make the lot sale a success."

This gentleman was convinced before the meeting that Messrs. Wehrle and Thomas would proceed with the construction of the new factories whether the lot sale succeeded or not, but after hearing from Messrs. Wehrle and Thomas personally and after hearing a full statement of the conditions he was convinced that he waswrong and that unless the lot sale was a success the enterprise would fail. The Board of Trade would not have recommended the lot sale if there was any assurance that the factories would be built without it, and the 40 business men who signed a strong indorsement of the project urging the people to buy the lots as published in last night's paper would not have declared it was the "best and most business-like proposition ever presented to the people of Newark" if they believed the factories would come without the sale of lots.

The factories will not be built unless the 200 lots are sold before January 15, 1903.

As stated yesterday Mr. Wehrle gets practically nothing but the land for building the big foundry and all that the Thomas Company gets is its factory site. Any city in Ohio would give not only as much but many would give a big cash bonus to get two such enterprises.

The people know what they are getting when they deal with Mr. Wehrle. They know that he will do just what he promises and when he says $250,000 will be expended on the two plants and their equipment dependence may be put in the statement

There is no question but the lots which are selling at $200, $250 and $300 will be worth the price asked for them when the factories start so one is not making anybody a contribution in buying a lot. Instead of contributing he is investing and while making a good business-like investment he is helping his home town to grow and is helping to bring about the result, which will permit him to say with pride: "Newark has the biggest stove foundry in the world."

The Wehrle company is now making 238 kinds of stoves and has only recently gone into the manufacture of steel ranges. The goods are known in every city in America and the Moser-Wehrle stoves have a great reputation. The demand is so steady that for the past three years the foundry has been run every day—Sundays and legal holidays excepted. This is true of no other big stove foundry in America. Last year and the previous season the Wehrle foundry turned out more stoves than did the biggest foundry in the country—that located in Detroit. There is a reason for it. When Newark has such an institution and when an opportunity is presented to make it so much greater and of so much greater value to the city, why not accept the opportunity? On the 15th inst. Mr. Wehrle must say whether he will be able to take care of certain immense contracts which will extend over a period of five years, with prospect of renewal at the end of that time. If the lot sale succeeds he will accept the contracts and the big plant will go up. If it fails the Forry land will be held for something to turn up in the indefinite future. Now is the time to take action. Now is the time to buy these lots at a fair price and on easy terms, thus enabling Newark to continue her healthy growth and prosperity. Business men and property owners should consider this matter well before refusing to aid in this project. Refusal to do your part may make the effort of the Board fail. In the past few years Newark has had a real taste of the advantages resulting from the presence of live industries and the result has been good business and a general advance in the value of real estate. Why not make business still better? Now is the chance.

Remember, when you buy a lot you are getting value received and are doing your part in booming your home town. If everybody refused to do anything to help the town, Newark in ten years would be about the same size as it is today, but if all will lend a hand and boost there is no telling how big Newark will grow in the next ten years. The bigger the more business, the greater the value of the real estate and the greater the valuation on the tax duplicate. With interurban roads running next year from three directions into Newark, with a number of live factories of different kinds and with these two big new industries Newark will hardly know herself.

Again your attention is called to tonight's mass meeting and the importance of a large attendance. If tonight's meeting is a failure the proposition may fail. If it is a rouser, if the people are there in large numbers and the committees are encouraged, it will be a success.

Success or failure? Which do the people want? Your presence or absence tonight will be your answer.

By the way you may be the lucky lot buyer who will get the Forry brick house for nothing. All have an equal chance at it.

PROPOSTION ENDORSED.

Forty leading business men enthusiastically endorse the Wehrle proposition as the best ever presented to the people of Newark. Go to the mass meeting tonight.

PLAN TO ABOLISH STAMPS.

Special Wrapper Suggested For Packages of Merchandise.

Mr. Madden, the third assistant postmaster general at Washington, is the author of a suggestion calculated to find great favor with manufacturers, merchants and advertisers whose business compels them to send large quantities of circulars or small packages of merchandise through the mails, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. General Madden proposes to do away with the affixing of stamps to identical pieces of printed matter or to articles of merchandise. The person sending this class of matter through the mail will simply pay the amount of postage required to the postmasters, whereupon the goods will go through the same as though each piece bore a stamp. General Madden also proposes to abandon the work of canceling and dating these parcels, thus effecting a large saving of time in the handling of this class of mail matter.

"The stamping of circulars and small articles of merchandise is a time killing employment," said General Madden in discussing his proposition. "Houses that send out great quantities of circulars and merchandise packages are required to employ clerks for the purpose of stamping the mail matter. Then when this is delivered at the postoffice the stamp clerk wastes enough time in looking for the stamps on a package to stamp and distribute a dozen letters. Manufacturers are constantly making complaint that their goods are being damaged by the cancellation process. Calendars are subject to damage every time a postal clerk takes a shot with a canceling stamp. Fountain pens and other manufactured goods are frequently ruined in this manner."

General Madden's plan calls for the preparation of a special wrapper to be sold by the department to the large users of mails.

Many women and doctors do not recognize the real symptoms of derangement of the female organs until too late.

"I had terrible pains along my spinal cord for two years and suffered dreadfully. I was given different medicines, wore plasters; none of these things helped me. Reading of the cures that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought about, I somehow felt that it was what I needed and bought a bottle to take. How glad I am that I did so; two bottles brought me immense relief, and after using three bottles more I felt new life and blood surging through my veins. It seemed as though there had been a regular house cleaning through my system, that all the sickness and poison had been taken out and new life given me instead. I have advised dozens of my friends to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Good health is indispensable to complete happiness, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has secured this to me." —Mrs. Laura L. Bears a Pest in Maine.

Black bears have taken possession of the country fifteen miles east of Bangor, Me., to such an extent that the farmers there are thinking of organizing a bear hunting league to exterminate the pests, says the Philadelphia Ledger and Times. In recent years the bear has subsided into peaceful ways. The state formerly paid a bounty of $5 a head for all bears killed, and this, with what could be got for the skins and from the sale of oil fried from the fat meat, made bear hunting so profitable that the animals became scarce. A few years ago, however, the law was repealed, and since then bears have been left to multiply, which they have done amazingly.

Abolishment of an Army.

A European army, a very small one, but still an organized army—is about to be abolished entirely, says the London Express. Prince Albert of Monaco, who is an ardent believer in the pressing need in the near future for arbitration as a means of settling all international disputes and who thinks that universal peace is a possibility, has determined to back his opinion by doing away with his entire armed force. Hence the Monegasque army, which consists of some thirty two men, will very shortly be a thing of the past.

Cats of Ancient Egypt.

By some persons the popularity of the cat in Egypt has been attributed to the fact that the animal was valuable in ridding the palaces of rats and mice and also in hunting fowls. There are several paintings in the British museum, executed by ancient Egyptian artists, representing Egyptian sportsmen in boats on the river Nile, accompanied by large cats, sitting on their haunches in the stern. Other pictures show the cats swimming with birds in their mouths after the manner of retriever dogs. These pictures have greatly perplexed modern naturalists because the cat of today has a strong aversion to water, and it is difficult to reconcile such different traits even after the lapse of thousands of years.

NEW SPECIES OF ORANGE.

First Fruits of an Agricultural Department Experiment.

When tangerine, mandarin and satsuma oranges were imported from the orient, Europeans and Americans were delighted to find a fruit which, unlike their own product, could be peeled readily with the hand. This was many years ago, and yet until the present time no step was taken to transfer this very desirable quality to the enormous native American crops. During the past few days, however, the department of agriculture has received some specimen oranges which have been crossed with the so called glove skinned or tangerine orange, says the Washington Post.

Of these the new grape fruit will be of the greatest interest to the connoisseur. The fruit retains its characteristic bitter flavor, which is so refreshing to the taste and which combines so well with wine flavorings. But, unlike the ordinary grape fruit, its sections separate readily and the skin can be peeled off quite as easily as a glove from a person's hand. In color it is intermediate, and its size is also a cross between the two fruits. The diminished bulk of the new product will facilitate handling, while the ready removal of the rind, which in the ripe fruit can actually be shaken from the pulp, will be a boon to the consumer.

The other new variety which Dr. Webber has just received from Miami, Fla., is an ordinary orange also crossed with a tangerine. In this case the rich, sweet flavor of the oriental orange has made a great improvement. The fruit can be distinguished by the protruding pip and the coarse glands peculiar to the tangerine peel.

Moon Influences.

Many superstitious beliefs as to the "influence" of the moon still remain. In some localities it is believed to be unlucky to be empty handed when one first beholds the new moon, and among the same people having silver in the hands or gold in the pockets is a "good sign." If one is about entering upon an important undertaking, he had best defer proceedings until the moon is "fulling"—that is, until some time between "new" and "full" moon.

WEDDING

OF MISS FULTON AND MR. BUELL WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Big Reception Followed the Ceremony at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Fulton.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Fulton, corner of Fifth and Locust streets was the scene Wednesday evening of one of the most brilliantly beautiful weddings that ever occurred in Newark when their daughter, Jane Hartley, was married to Henry I. Buell, of Zanesville.

The capacious house was a profusion of floral beauty, each spacious room having received a liberal share of decorative attention, the predominating color effect being green and white. The general scheme of ornamentation was accomplished most successfully, and careful attention was given to each detail of the arrangements.

In the west parlors, where the ceremony was performed, the walls held large holly wreaths, tied with white ribbon, while festoons of evergreen were gracefully draped, the whole being upon a white background. The piano was used as a foundation upon which a huge bank of cedar, ferns, sprengaria and palms was erected.

A central candelabrum bearing large candles, stood at the front while smaller candles were arranged about it in the foliage, others being about the room, all combining to shed a subdued and mellow light over the beautiful and impressive scene during the ceremony.

The bridal party formed in the back parlor, and as soon as the full orchestral strains of the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus," played by Mr. Otto Meyer's Auditorium orchestra sounded forth they took up the march into the east parlor, across the hall to the west parlor in the following order: Ushers Walter Black and Willis Bailey, bearing the ribbons and white carpet, Rev. Frank W. Bope, rector of St. James Episcopal church of Zanesville, the officiating clergyman, the groom and his brother and best man, Daniel Buell of New York City, Ushers Charles Granger and Robert Fulton, Charles Hamilton and James Bailey, bridesmaids, Miss Heisey and Miss Hazel Rees, Miss Grant and Miss Anne Fulton, matrons, Mrs. James K. Hamill and Mrs. James R. Fitzgibbon. The bride on the arm of her father followed, and the bridal party occupied the west parlor, the guests remaining outside this room.

Rev. Bope, standing before the prie-dieux, where knelt the contracting parties, used the Episcopal ring service, and the ceremony was impressively performed, during which the subdued strains of Mascagni's immortal "Intermezzo" played by the orchestra, floated over the scene.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received the guests, relatives and a few out of town friends, where they had been married. After congratulations, an elaborate wedding supper was served.

The bride's table, in the dining room was formed in the shape of a hollow square, and was decorated with holly, poinsettas and red candles.

Twenty-two sat down here, including the bridal party, Miss Devant of Roanoke, Va., Miss Goddard of Zanesville, Mr. Graham Hunt, Cincinnati, Mr. Ben Wickham, Norwalk, Messrs. James K. Hamill and James R. Fitzgibbon.

The other guests were served at a large round table, presided over by Mrs. W. N. Fulton. This table was decorated with pink roses, smilax and white carnations.

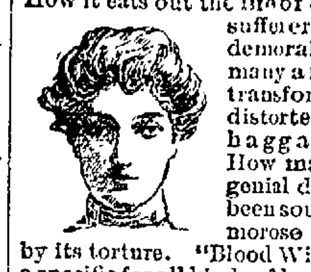

At nine o'clock the wedding reception began and was soon at its height, presenting a scene of lively social intercourse. The bridal party received in the west parlor, while Mrs. Fulton, assisted by Mrs. C. C. Goddard of Zanesville, Mrs. George Jewett of Baltimore, and Mrs. F. W. Bope, of Zanesville, received in the east parlor.

The bride wore her wedding gown, white liberty silk, shirred, and trimmed with lace, her veil being caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses.

The bride's matrons, Mrs. Hamill and Mrs. Fitzgibbon, were in white lace and carried pink roses.

The bride's maids Misses Emma Heisey, Hazel Rees, Florence Grant, and Anne Fulton wore white lace over pink and carried bunches of holly.

Headache

How it eats out the life of every tortured sufferer; what a nerve demoralizer it is. How many a fair face it has transformed into a distorted visage of baggard suffering. How many a happy, genial disposition has been soured and made morose and irritable by its torture. "Blood Wine" is almost a specific for all kinds of headaches: sick, nervous, neuralgia and stomach headaches, with tortured days and sleepless nights. It cools the overheated blood on its way to the fevered, throbbing brain, reduces respiration, clears the coated tongue, cleanses the system and removes every cause. Don't suffer any longer. Get a bottle of "Blood Wine." Fifty cents for a large bottle.

Mrs. John A. Colvin, 76 Main St., Fall River, Mass., says:

"For several years I suffered with a severe headache and constant dragging pains. I tried all kinds of medicines to no avail. I was finally persuaded to use 'Blood Wine' and the first bottle brought blessed relief. I also find its occasional use wards off colds."

Sold at City Drug store.

Mrs. W. N. Fulton wore black velvet trimmed with white lace.

The bride presented the matrons and maids with gold pins, while a beautiful stick pin was the gift of the groom to each of the ushers.

Miss Hazel Rees received the bride's shower bouquet, while, when the cake was cut, Miss Grant got the sixpence, Miss Devant the thimble, and Miss Frances Boalt of Norwalk, the ring.

Out of the groom's cake Mr. Graham Hunt got the ring, Mr. James Bailey the bachelor's button and Mr. Robert Fulton the silver piece.

Mr. and Mrs. Buell left at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning for New York, and a ten days' visit with Mrs. George Jewett at Baltimore, Md., and will be at home in Woodlawn avenue, Zanesville, after January 22.

The out of town guests at the reception were, Miss Frances Hamill, New York City, Miss Francis Boalt, Norwalk, Miss Devant, Roanoke, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers, Zanesville, Mr. Ben Wickham and Mr. Will Taber, Norwalk, O., Bernard Schultz, Charles Upjohn, Zanesville, Miss Upson, Mansfield, Miss Kennedy, Wheeling, Miss Forrest, Smithport, Pa., Mrs. H. G. Buxton and daughter Maude of Johnstown, Willis Bailey, James Bailey, Walter Black, Charles Hamilton, Chas. Granger, Miss Grant, Rev and Mrs. F. W. Bope, Converse Applegate, of Zanesville, Mrs. George Jewett of Baltimore, Md., Miss Goddard of Zanesville.

Mr. Buell, the groom is city civil engineer of Zanesville, and a young man of excellent character and standing.

The bride is one of Newark's most charming and capable young women, whose large circle of friends extend to her their best wishes for unalloyed happiness.

OVERPETTED PETS.

Dogs and Cats Spoiled by Appetite For Unnatural Tidbits.

Possibly the dog world might afford a better specimen of a living skeleton than one in the kennel next to the door of a boarding place for animals, but it would take a day's journey to find him.

"What's makes him so thin?" was asked of the attendant.

"He won't eat," was the reply—"that is, he won't eat hospital food. He's been spoiled. Lots of dogs and cats that are brought here have been spoiled. Their owners think it is a sign of high breeding to cultivate an appetite for a peculiar and unnatural diet. They train animals to eat all kinds of food that they would never touch of their own volition. This emaciated fellow has been taught to like fruit. He is particularly fond of pears, but, in case he can't get them, peaches, apples and bananas are a fairly satisfactory substitute. Unfortunately, his present ailment makes a fruit diet extremely dangerous, and since he is deprived of his favorite food he is literally starving himself to death."

The attendant passed on to a neighboring cage and poked his finger sportively into the side of a large gray cat that "meowed" plaintively in response to his cheery "Hello, there, Cæsar!" The cat had such a healthy, wholesome appearance that the visitor inquired what meat he was fed upon. "Tamale," said the attendant. "You've missed it there. He doesn't feed upon meat. He's a vegetarian. He likes onions better than anything else, unless it's melons. A good many cats like melons, and most of them are also partial to raw asparagus. The fact is you might run through a list of all the [illegible] that find a place [illegible] up to date menu and you will find that some of our patients have acquired a taste for them. This epicureanism may [illegible] on the part of the boarders, but I don't approve of it. Most of these unnatural tastes are a perversion of the natural animal appetite, and it is likely to prove harmful in the end. The trick is pretty expensive, for us fellows that run cat and dog boarding houses, and I'd like to put a stop to it."—New York Times.

AMUSEMENTS.

When the people take to a melodrama the second season the critic is out of business. The box office has decided that it is a "go" and all there is left to tell is how it went.

Such was the remark of the critic on the Syracuse Journal, the occasion being the second presentation of "An American Gentleman," which will be the attraction at the Auditorium on January 9. This highly interesting play now in its third season has done all that has been claimed for it. Sensation, comedy and pathos are the elements of its success, and equipped with elegant scenery and effects it has won its way into the hearts of all true lovers of the really meritorious drama. It was built to please all classes and has succeeded and is what in theatrical parlance is known as a "box office winner" and that means much.

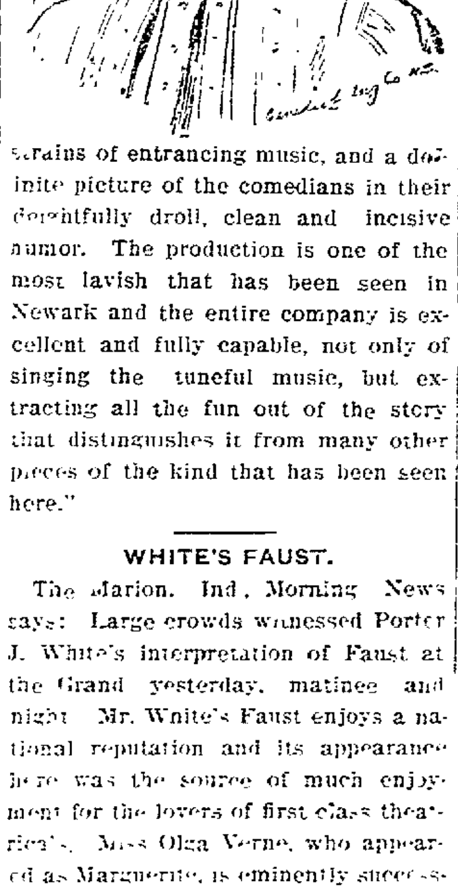

"SAN TOY."

A few of the song hits in "San Toy" are "Rhoda and Her Pagoda," "Pynka Pong," "Tommy Atkins," "I Mean to Introduce It Into China," and several others, all of these having become deservedly popular with the public. There are twenty-six "numbers" in all in "San Toy" and as has been frequently said, not a bad one among them. This season the management of "San Toy" have engaged their own orchestra to travel with the company which will be augmented by the one employed by the theatre, making one of the largest and best orchestras to be heard this season. The combined orchestras will be under the leadership of the veteran conductor John Braham. Auditorium, January 12.

WHEN REUBEN COMES TO TOWN.

A metropolitan critic speaking of "When Reuben Comes to Town," the new musical comedy, that will be seen at the Auditorium on January 14 said:

"It is infinitely amusing and delighting in its absurdity, its complications and telling situations. As fragile as finely spun glass, it offers no hold for handling in detail, it is wholly charming. One brings away a blurred and delirious impression of swirling and bewitching feminility, haunting vagrant strains of entrancing music, and a definite picture of the comedians in their delightfully droll, clean and incisive humor. The production is one of the most lavish that has been seen in Newark and the entire company is excellent and fully capable, not only of singing the tuneful music, but extracting all the fun out of the story that distinguishes it from many other pieces of the kind that has been seen here."

WHITE'S FAUST.

The Marion, Ind., Morning News says: Large crowds witnessed Porter J. White's interpretation of Faust at the Grand yesterday, matinee and night. Mr. White's Faust enjoys a national reputation and its appearance here was the source of much enjoyment for the lovers of first class theatricals. Miss Olga Verne, who appeared as Marguerite, is eminently successful, meeting with an ovation wherever she goes. Auditorium Jan. 16.

WORTH KNOWING

At This Season of the Year.

Any cough accompanied by expectoration which lasts over three or four days, requires attention and treatment; this does not mean a visit to the hospital, nor to your physician nor wholesale drugging with patent medicines; but it means that some simple, harmless effective antiseptic remedy like Stuart's Catarrh Tablets should be used to ward off any possible termination in Pneumonia, Chronic Catarrh, Bronchitis, or Consumption.

All of this formidable diseases start from a common cold, neglected or allowed to run its course and it only the exercise of common every day caution to cure a cold as quickly as possible, not so much for what it is at the moment, but what it may become if neglected.

Perhaps no remedy is so safe, reliable and convenient to stop a cold or obstinate cough as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

The extract of blood root contained in them combined with the red gum of the Eucalyptus tree seem to put the mucous membrane of the nose mouth and throat in a condition to throw off the germs of catarrh, bronchitis and consumption, and as they are taken internally they seem to equalize the circulation and place the body in that condition of health which resists, and throws off the germs of disease.

A person in perfect health rarely catches cold and if he does, throws it off in a day or two, but, where the cold hangs on, stopping up the nostrils, irritating the throat or there is persistent annoying cough it is evident that the system for some reason is unable to throw off the disease germs which cause the trouble, a little assistance is necessary, and this is best given by the use of some harmless germ destroying antiseptic like Stuart's Catarrh Tablets which are also palatable and equally safe for children and adults.

Druggists sell these tablets at 50 cents full sized package, higher in price than [illegible] and cheap cough syrups, but Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain antiseptic properties which actually cure catarrh and throat and lung troubles, while it is a notorious fact that cough drops and cough syrups are largely composed of opium, cocaine and similar drugs that have no curative power.

It is also true at many popular liquid medicines and tonics for catarrh depend upon the alcohol they contain which simply a temporary stimulation [illegible] no real benefit for any trouble catarrhal or otherwise.

"D. D. D.," the astonishingly effective new

Skin disease prescription

Eczema, Salt Rheum, Barbers' Itch, Erysipelas—all eruptions, scaly diseases and parasitic affections of the skin positively cleared away in a hurry. A clean, pleasant liquid (non-greasy) externally applied—sponged or sopped over the parts. Instantly stops all irritation. Soon clears out absolutely all affected conditions.

(Here is a case cleared away with two bottles.)

(Case of daughter of Mr. Mose Hartman permanently cured of a bad skin disease after two bottles only of this D. D. D. prescription.)

I vouch for these facts.

They have been proven to me beyond the possibility of doubt.

Sold at Hall's Drug Store, 10 North Side Square, Newark, Ohio.

Some weeks ago the astonishing record of this prescription—proven to me by indisputable evidence—induced me to give it my unqualified recommendation to the public. Since then D. D. D. has cured so many who obtained it from me that its record with me has been fully equal to its previous history. I have not seen a single instance of disappointment. It seems to do the work every time. In nine cases out of ten, manifestations on the skin are skin diseases—not blood diseases. Many purchasers formerly miserable, thinking they had a bad blood disease, have found it was merely a skin affection and have cleared it all away with this prescription.

Among all the known reliable specific medical influences for different ailments I know of very few discoveries so certain in effect as this D. D. D. prescription in its quick conquest of skin diseases of all kinds.

A FEW CURES OF WELL-KNOWN PARTIES.

Chicago, April 7, 1902. "About six months ago my daughter began getting sores all over her body and was gradually getting worse. Nothing seemed to do her any good, although we tried different medicines but without success. She would scratch continually and it was a sight to look at. I was asked to try a bottle of your D. D. D. remedy, which I did, and to my surprise it worked wonders on her the second day, and before the bottle was empty she was almost cured. The second bottle completely cured her. I will highly recommend your remedy to any one suffering with skin disease, the fact is I cannot say enough for it." Wishing you every success, I am, yours very truly, F. KLINEHAMER, 2001 Fillmore Street.

"I am glad to say that the bottle of medicine furnished by you in July last has been of great benefit to me. I am now free from the annoyance heretofore suffered from Eczema on my ankles. I have also cured a friend of mine who had it for over three years on his face." W. J. [illegible], Vice President and General Manager of Great Northern Express Co.

"That wonderful discovery, the D. D. D. remedy, cured me of a bad case of Eczema of long standing, which the physicians could not cure. I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with any kind of Skin Disease." C. E. WOODWARD, (Ex-Mayor), Cairo, Ill.

"I have been troubled for years with Eczema of the skin and tried a great variety of remedies and cures, with no apparent relief. Doctors were unable to benefit me in any way. A friend of mine gave me a bottle of your D. D. D. remedy to try. Before the contents of the first bottle were consumed I am glad to say your remedy had proved entirely satisfactory and had cured me.

"It is a great pleasure in recommending it to all and everyone suffering from any disease of the skin." I am, very truly, JOHN D. BAGGOT. (A well-known Chicago business man.)

"The D. D. D. remedy cured me of Lichen-Ruber in [illegible] weeks. I had bathed and treated at Hot Springs, Ark. for six weeks. The hot waters irritated me and made me worse. My body was covered with eruption from head to foot." GEO. GEBERT, No. 250 43rd St., Chicago.

Chicago, April 6, 1902. I got some kind of a skin disease in a barber shop and I tried a half bottle of your D. D. D. Remedy and I must say it cleared my skin fine. I asked the druggist for a salve and he said the D. D. D. would be the best thing for me. I thought the price was a little too much, but if I ever have any kind of a skin disease again I am willing to pay ten times as much. I think it the best remedy in the world for any kind of a skin disease. Yours truly, FRANK W. KOLLE, 51 West Irving Park Boulevard, Chicago.

The preparation is being used by most of the skin specialists. It is compounded for druggists solely by the D. D. D. Company, 70 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

It is utilized by every general family physician who has taken the trouble to investigate the work it is accomplishing.

It is used in the Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

It will clear off any parasitic break in the skin in from 3 days' to 60 days' time.

If you have a skin disease visit the above agents and see proofs that will make you a happier human being.

$1.00 buys this prescription—already made up in sealed bottles—with authentic label on each. The above concern will fill mail orders on receipt of price.

PEPSIN SYRUP CO.

Gentlemen,—Any person engaged in active business life is apt to become careless in regard to eating at regular hours. I found that after six years of activity in the rush of city life, I had become very irregular regarding my meals, often eating my heartiest meal late at night, after the hurry of the day was over. I soon found myself suffering with dyspepsia, which gave me many an unpleasant hour. As my health had always been perfect before, I could hardly realize that I needed attention as a sick woman. I was advised to use

Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin

by one of my colleagues, and I sent for a bottle, wishing to give it a trial. I am pleased to say that I found it a most efficacious remedy. Within six weeks I was well once more, and heartily endorse your medicine for stomach troubles.

He was standing on the steps of his engine, which was on the bridge at Pataskala, when an extra train came along and bumping into the rear end of his train jarred his engine so that he fell off the steps, and down into the creek, the water of which was of considerable depth. Mr. Kelsey, fortunately, escaped serious injury.

THE Y. M. C. A.

Best Entertainment of the Popular Saturday Nights Will Be Given This Week.

The Valpo Concert and Novelty company, which is to give the entertainment in Taylor Hall Saturday night, appeared a few nights ago in a lecture course at Corry, Pa. The Corry Leader in speaking of this concert mentions with highest praise the work of the different artists. "The Sleigh Bell solo by Prof. Valpo was wonderfully executed; a vocal solo by Miss Junita Lee clinched her hold on the hearts of the people of Corry by her sweet singing; the equal of Miss Lynetta Cole, the charming harpist, would be hard to find; while Mr. and Mrs. Valpo succeeded in completely mystifying everybody by several very unique and clever sleight of hand and magical tricks."

This is the strongest musical organization that the Y. M. C. A. has yet ventured to put on for a "Popular Saturday Night." Price same as before, 10 cents for any seat in the house. Reserves now on sale.

CORBETT ACCEPTS JEFFRIES OFFER.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan 8.—"I accept the offer of the Hays Valley Athletic club of San Francisco to fight Jim Jeffries for the championship of the world. Jeffries will make good now, because there is not a club in California that will hang up enough money for any one in a championship match except for Jeff and myself. The battle will take place in six months' time."

This announcement was made by James J Corbett, monologist, at Shea's theatre, when shown a Frisco dispatch stating that the Hayes Valley Athletic club had offered a purse of $20,000 for a twenty-round contest between Corbett and Jeffries.

"I'm confident Jeffries will accept," J. J. Corbett, "because he knows the club is reliable and he thinks he can beat me again, but he will find that he is mistaken."

The International Date Line.

Greenwich, on the other side of the earth, is 180 degrees east and also 180 degrees west.

Now this point, or meridian, is the place where by universal consent the day changes, and it is called the international date line. Let us see how the change is made and note some of the curious conditions that the change gives rise to. Suppose two ships are sailing toward that line, one sailing east and the other west. On the ship sailing toward the east the day is Sunday; on the ship sailing toward the west the day is Monday.

Suppose, further, that it is 9 o'clock in the morning and at that hour both ships stop, one east of the line, the other west of it, but within hailing distance of each other. It is 9 o'clock in the morning, remember, as indicated by the sun, but on one ship it is Sunday, on the other it is Monday, for the day of the week and the day of the month both change at that line.

Then the ships sail on, and the instant they cross the date line the one going east changes the day from Sunday to Monday, and the one going west changes the day from Monday to Sunday, so that the first ship gains a whole day and the last ship loses one.

A Blind Beggar's Faithful Dog.

A very curious story of a canine musical ear is told of a London organ grinder's dog. The organ grinder was blind and aged, and the dog used to lead him about. One night after a hard day's work the old man and his faithful companion lay down to sleep with the organ beside them. They slept soundly, and when they awoke the organ was gone.

They were in despair. Their means of earning a living was gone. But the dog led the old man through the streets where he had been accustomed to play, and persons who had given him alms before continued to befriend him.

Weeks went by. One day the old man heard a hand organ played a few feet from him. It reminded him of his lost instrument, but he paid no special attention to it. Hand organs were common in London, and he heard them often.

Not so the dog. He showed signs of excitement, barked violently and led his master in the direction of the organ.

He sprang at the robber's throat, dragged him away from the stolen organ and led his master eagerly up to it with expressions of recognition and delight.—Youth's Companion.

Paris Boys Never Fight.

You never see boys of any class fight in the streets of Paris. The boys of the laboring classes play in the squares of their neighborhood and in the streets, but it does not seem to be in their nature to exchange fisticuffs. The French are certainly not a boxing race. They have a natural aversion to having their flesh pummeled, and if by chance boys lose their instinct of self preservation enough to come to blows they are quickly made to keep the peace by older passersby, who, separating them, give them a moral lecture upon such cruel exercise of the muscles. Boys of the upper classes never play in the streets. In fact, until they are sent to college, where they are under the surveillance of teachers and guardians, they are never allowed to go out alone any more than girls. What a degradation it would be for an American lad to have some one follow him whenever he ventured out on the street! But French boys are accustomed to it, and foreigners who take the liberties they are accustomed to in their own country are considered specimens of savages.—Paris Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

Seeing Fair Play.

Two little dogs were playing in the street when a large, surly mongrel came along and interfered. The little fellows snapped at the big bully and were severely whipped for their temerity. Another dog on the sidewalk no sooner saw the fight than he started on a run for a livery stable near by. There he found three other dogs, and a barking colloquy ensued, and presently the four dogs made a dash to the rescue. The mongrel saw re-enforcements coming and retreated rapidly, although not in good order, since the pursuers got in several hard bites before the bully escaped. Then the stable dogs returned to their quarters, and the little dogs resumed their play.—Toronto Empire.

The Squirrel's Lesson.

Two little squirrels out in the sun;
One gathered nuts and the other had none.
"Time enough yet," his constant refrain;
"Summer is still only just on the wane."

Listen, my child, while I tell you his fate:
He roused him at last, but he roused him too late.
Down fell the snow from a pitiless cloud
And gave little squirrel a spotless white shroud.

An Old Game.

Tell each one of the company you will name each one for some animal, and at a given signal each one shall shout his or her name aloud. You whisper in each one's ear after telling the first to shout elephant) to keep perfectly still.

Then the signal is given, and amid profound silence the unlucky "Elephant" shouts his name aloud.

A Tongue Twister.

Betty Botter bought some butter;
"But," she said, "this butter's bitter.
If I put it in my batter,
It will make the batter bitter,
But a bit of better butter
Will make my batter better."
So she bought a bit of butter
Better than the bitter butter
And made her bitter batter better.
So 'twas a better Betty Botter
Bought a bit of better butter.

There's nothing so good for a cough as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral!

A cough means a great deal to a young person, when there is a family history of weak lungs, with perhaps a case of consumption itself. NEEDS OF THE FILIPINOS

Some Peculiar Ones Described by an American Official.

GREAT VALUE OF THE CARABAOS

Brewster Cameron Says They Take the Place of Horses, Cows, Oxen and Mules—Blessing of the Discovery of a Serum to Fight the Rinderpest—The Locust Scourge.

"There are some conditions which are so widely different in the United States and the Philippines that it is hard for Americans to understand what the Filipinos need and why they do one thing and fail to do another," said Brewster Cameron to a recent visitor, speaking of his mission from the united chambers of commerce in the Philippines, writes the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post. "If an American in Washington were to meet with misfortune and there did not seem to be any way of his retrieving it here, he would probably go to Baltimore or Philadelphia or New York and see what employment he could get in one of those cities. The Filipino has no such resource. He is a son of the soil in a country whose sole interest is agricultural. When ill luck overtakes him on his plantation, there he stays and plods away, making the best of a bad matter in the hope of retrieving himself. It would not enter his mind to move away and try his chances somewhere else.

"Then, too, our people have very little conception of what the carabao is to the Filipino. Here we use a horse for one purpose, a cow for another, an ox for a third and a mule for a fourth perhaps. But the poor Filipino uses his carabao for all these purposes combined. He cannot plow or harvest, he cannot take his family on a journey, he cannot carry his products to market, he cannot have fresh milk for food, when he loses his carabao. That is what makes the rinderpest so dreadful a curse.

"I knew one company who owned 20,000 acres of land and 12,000 head of carabao, and one visitation of the pest swept the cattle all away, leaving the land useless. The worst of a neglected piece of land in the Philippines is that, with the rank growth of vegetation there, it quickly grows up to jungle and becomes uncultivatable and must be cleared anew, at an expense perhaps of $50 an acre, whenever it is to be turned to agricultural uses once more. This is one reason why there is so little cause to fear that, if the limit of acreage in a single holding be increased by law, any one who acquires more land will let it lapse into jungle again—it will be kept up as a mere matter of self protection, if nothing else, for it will cost more to clear it than to keep it clear.

"The rinderpest not only has been a terrible scourge in its first manifestations, but is so persistent that when it has once smitten a herd of carabao it is impossible to put others upon the same land for five years thereafter without their falling victims too. That is what made so striking the success of the experiments with the serum prepared by the board of agriculture. A herd of carabao inoculated with it and ordered to be put into a certain virgin pasture were turned loose by mistake on land which had been thoroughly infected with the rinderpest by a herd that had recently died there. When the error was discovered, there was great alarm. But to everybody's astonishment and delight the newcomers went through the ordeal unharmed, proving the effectiveness of the treatment they had received.

"That twin plague, the locust, is something of which the American who has not seen it with his own eyes can have no conception. One day I was writing at a desk with my back to the window, when suddenly the apartment became dark, as if it had been artificially lighted and some one had put the lamp out. I glanced around to discover what the matter was, and found the sky and all the landscape blotted out of view. I looked, in fact, into a solid cloudbank of locusts. They formed a dense wall between the house and the objects on the other side of them. In a place where I saw them descend upon a tree they covered it so that there was not a sliver of the wood or foliage visible. The next day every shred of leafage was gone. The tree had been stripped as clean as if scraped with a sharp blade. That is the way they ruin the products of the earth, and the discovery of a fungus which, spread over the ground where they have swarmed, heaps it with their dead bodies, is considered one of the greatest of boons. That and the rinderpest serum are alone enough to justify all that the Taft commission has done in organizing and maintaining the bureau of animal industry."

Wretched Jails In Venezuela.

Venezuela's prisons seem modeled on the Black Hole of Calcutta, according to the description of Captain Davidson, who says that more than a score of persons were crowded into a room sixteen feet square, with nothing to sit on. This would be bad treatment for the worst type of local scoundrels, says the New York Tribune, but when applied to innocent victims of politics and revolution nothing in Dahomey or any province of Jumbo Land was ever more abominable.

A Pingpong Fiend.

A murderer in Canada waiting execution insisted on a game of pingpong just preceding death and also for a view of the scaffold, both of which wishes were gratified.

SUGAR BEET PULP.

Experience of Leading California Stockmen In Feeding It.

During the past year the California experiment station submitted several questions to some of the leading stockmen of the state with a view to gathering their experience in feeding sugar beet pulp. Some of the questions asked and the answers of the different parties are here quoted:

How much pulp do you feed daily per animal?

Mr. Koster—Ninety to 100 pounds.

Mr. Wiegman—About 100 pounds.

Mr. Silsbee—An average of 112 pounds of siloed pulp.

Messrs Vail and Gates—A four-year-old steer will eat about 80 pounds of siloed pulp.

Mr. Miller—About 100 pounds of fresh or 60 pounds of fermented pulp.

Mr. Newhall—The daily average consumed per animal will vary from 80 to 100 pounds. For animals of 1,000 to 1,100 pounds weight the former quantity should suffice.

Balanced With Hay, Grain or Straw.

Do you feed hay or grain with the pulp and if so how much and of what kind?

Mr. Koster—Ten to fifteen pounds uncut hay and two and a half to five pounds finely rolled barley, quantity regulated by condition of the cattle and the state of the weather; in cold weather a greater proportion of hay and barley than in warm weather.

Mr. Wiegman—About five pounds of oat hay and three pounds of mixed "chop" feed.

Mr. Silsbee—Ten to twelve pounds of lima bean straw.

Messrs. Vail and Gates—About six pounds of barley hay and straw. Have generally fed about eight pounds of ground corn for the last forty days of feeding. When we feed cottonseed meal, we give about three pounds per day.

Mr. Miller—About ten pounds of either alfalfa hay, grain hay or straw chopped and mixed with grain, usually ground barley, though sometimes cracked wheat.

How Long to Feed It.

How long is the period during which you feed beet pulp continuously?

Mr. Koster—During the winter months covering a period of 90 to 120 days.

Mr. Wiegman—Until fat, usually four to four and a half months.

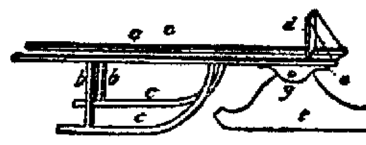

Mr. Silsbee—Ninety days.

Messrs. Vail and Gates—From 100 to 120 days.

Mr. Miller—About four months.

A Useful Winter Barrow.

A handy winter barrow is pictured and described in American Agriculturist. There is a single front runner (f) and two rear runners (cc) made of brace iron or wooden wagon fellies. The front runner is of one and a half inch hard wood and should be ironed. The bed pieces (aa) are 2½ inches wide, an inch thick and 3½ feet long. The braces (bb) are an inch thick, 2½ inches wide and 16 inches long. There are two pieces (e) eight inches long made of hard wood and built to the frame (aa). The rocker pin (g) is the width of the bed, and this fits in the front runner. The dash (d) may be of any desired height.

Corn Planting Experiments.

At the North Dakota experiment station experiments in thickness of planting showed the largest yields of fodder from corn planted in hills in rows twenty-two inches apart. Drilled corn produced more fodder than corn planted in hills in rows forty-four inches apart, but the largest yield of ears was obtained from planting in hills. Corn sowed broadcast did not yield as well as corn sowed in drills. Drilling corn six inches apart in rows three and a half feet apart gave the best average total yield for two years. In this experiment the yield decreased almost regularly with an increase of the distance between the plants in the row. Planting six kernels in a hill gave a larger yield of fodder and ears than planting a smaller number of kernels. As to depth of planting, two and four inches gave the best results.

Lime, Salt and Sulphur Wash.

Dr. Smith of New Jersey reckons the cost of lime, salt and sulphur wash for San Jose scale at 1½ to nearly 2 cents per gallon for the materials.

The vermorel nozzle with large opening does well for small trees. The bordeaux and other nozzles throwing a fan shaped spray are better for larger trees.

In California the bean spray pump and a nozzle throwing a fan shaped spray is used.

One Thing and Another.

It is a lack of rain that gives Colorado beets so great a percentage of sugar. According to a western authority they average about five pounds, run from 14 to 18 per cent of sugar and yield an average of twenty or more tons per acre.

Sugar beets remove alkaline salts in appreciable quantity from the soil and thereby put it in condition to yield ensuing crops of better quality.

The December report of the department of agriculture places the wheat acreage seeded at 34,000,000 acres against 32,000,000 seeded last year.

There were 8,700,000 acres of corn in Iowa in 1902, and from this was grown 296,350,230 bushels.

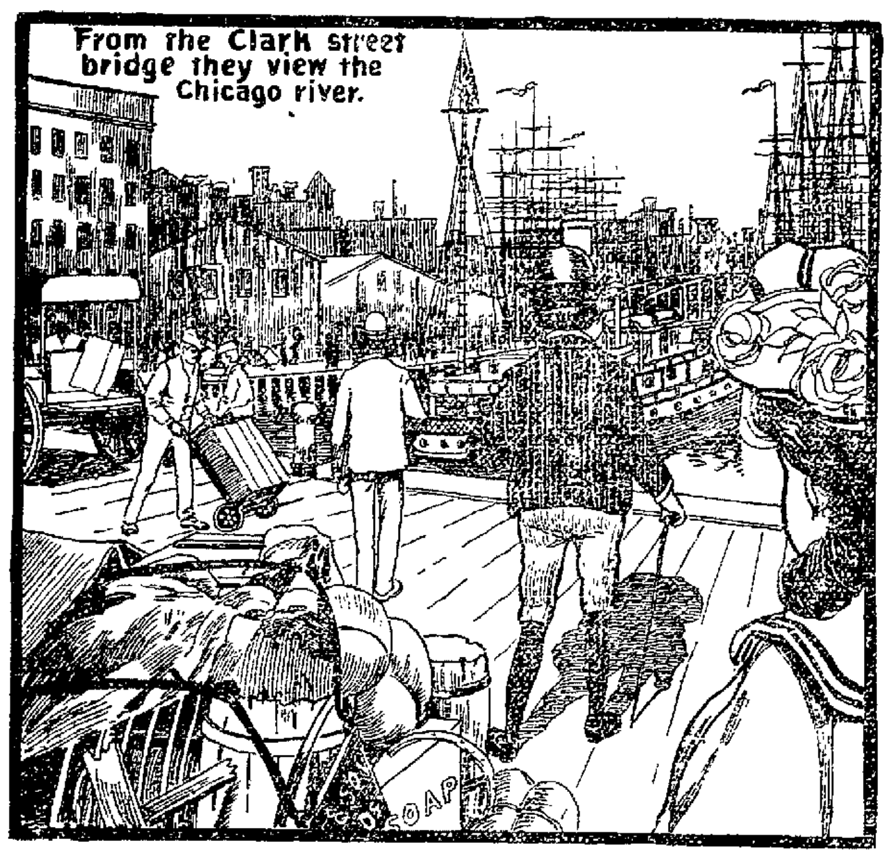

In fattening steers at the Montana station when alfalfa and clover are used not more than one-half pound of grain to the hundredweight of live weight is necessary to produce the most satisfactory results.

AN OLD FAVORITE

NEARER HOME

By Phoebe Cary

INSEPARABLY linked with the name and fame of Phoebe Cary, poet, are those of her older sister Alice. Phoebe was born in Ohio in 1824, four years after Alice, and died in 1871, surviving the latter only five months. The early loss of their mother, their father's remarriage and the want of harmony with their stepmother induced the two sisters to set up a separate establishment in New York. They became prominent in Gotham's literary life. The poems of Alice Cary are somber and mournful, while those of Phoebe are generally sunny and hopeful. "Nearer Home" is probably the best known single poem of the latter.

ONE sweetly solemn thought
Comes to me o'er and o'er:
I am nearer home today
Than I ever have been before.

Nearer my Father's house,
Where the many mansions be;
Nearer the great white throne,
Nearer the crystal sea;

Nearer the bound of life
Where we lay our burdens down;
Nearer leaving the cross,
Nearer gaining the crown!

But lying darkly between,
Winding down through the night,
Is the silent, unknown stream,
That leads at last to the light.

Closer and closer my steps
Come to the dread abysm;
Closer Death to my lips
Presses the awful chrism.

Oh, if my mortal feet
Have almost gained the brink;
If it be I am nearer home
Even today than I think;

Father, perfect my trust;
Let my spirit feel in death
That her feet are firmly set
On the rock of a living faith!

FIND HORSE AND ITS LADY R... R.

JUST LIKE MOTHER.

An Early Morning Letter With an Important Announcement.

That domestic ambulance corps of which mother or wife or sister has charge, being accustomed to all the accidents that befall heedless men folk, can sometimes deal with them at long range. Thus the New York Mail and Express tells how, at 6 o'clock in the morning of the wedding day, a post-office messenger rang the bell at the home of the bride to be and handed out a special delivery letter.

It was addressed to the best man, who had come forty miles to second his best friend in the ceremony, and was, with several others, the guest of the bride's parents. The best man was still sound asleep, but he was promptly awakened on the supposition that the letter must contain something of importance.

It did, indeed. Rubbing his eyes in an effort to understand, he tore open the envelope and was astonished to find a sheet of letter paper, with a large needle of the sort men always choose when emergency compels them to sew thrust through it and a foot of black thread doubled and trailing in a loose tangle down the page.

The best man thought it was a joke, but he could not see it, and he was about to become resentful when, upon turning the sheet, he found this hastily written note:

Dear Brother—Mother says there is a button off your dress coat. It is in your waistcoat, right hand pocket. Sew it on.

Crawling out of bed, the best man examined his coat and laughed to see that the situation had been accurately described in the letter. "Just like mother," he said. "She has probably lost a whole night's sleep thinking about that button."

Later in the day four bridesmaids gleefully assisted in making the repairs, and this telegram went to mother:

Button sewed on. Don't worry.

KEEPING A LOGBOOK.

The System of Abbreviations Used on Merchant Vessels.

How many landsmen know how a logbook is written up? It seems just as complicated as double entry bookkeeping when one does not know, but after a little careful attention and study it's as easy to keep a logbook as to eat hot gingerbread. There is a list of letters arranged, and they look like so much Greek to the uneducated.

The letter b, for instance, stands for blue sky, whether there be clear or hazy atmosphere. C means cloudy or detached, opening clouds; d denotes drizzling rain; a small j, fog; capital F, thick fog; g, gloomy, dark weather; h, hail; l, lightning, and m, misty or hazy so as to interfere with the view.

The letter o represents overcast or when the whole sky is covered with one impenetrable cloud. Passing showers are noted by the letter p, and q indicates the weather to be squally. Continuous rain is indicated by an r, snow by an s and thunder by a t. Any ugly, threatening appearance in the weather calls for the letter u, and visibility of distant objects, whether the sky be cloudy or not, is represented by the letter v. A small w is wet dew. A full point or dot under any letter denotes an extraordinary degree. As an example of how the letters are used take q p d l t. This reads very hard squalls and showers of drizzle, accompanied by lightning, with very heavy thunder. Numerals denote the force of the wind. A cipher indicates calm, 1 light air, 2 light breeze, 3 gentle breeze, 4 moderate breeze, 5 fresh breeze, 6 strong breeze, 7 moderate gale, 8 fresh gale, 9 strong gale, 10 whole gale, 11 storm, 12 hurricane. This system of abbreviation is generally adhered to on all merchant vessels.

Quicksands.

Quicksands have a horrible fascination for writers and readers of fiction, and the reality is every bit as bad as fancy paints it. One of the most remarkable quicksand accidents occurred years ago in New Zealand. Two prospectors were wading across the mouth of a small stream running into the sea in the north island of New Zealand. Both stepped into a quicksand. One who merely touched the edge of it got loose. The other sank rapidly and, in spite of his companion's efforts, was sucked under. When an attempt was made to recover the body, it was found that the sand was enormously rich in gold. From a single ton of it £300 worth of gold was washed.—Pearson's.

His Audience.

First Pianist—Did you have much of an audience at your recital yesterday afternoon?

Second Pianist—Splendid! There were two men, three women and a boy. The boy, I afterward learned, was employed about the place, and the two men came in for shelter, as it was raining at the time, but the three women were all right. They came to hear me, I know, for I gave them the passes myself.—Boston Transcript.

He Took the Watch.

It is told of the late Dr. Parker that when a very, very, very good young man came to him asking whether he should accept for certain special service a gold watch from an agnostic employer he replied: "Take it, my lad; take it. If he had been a Christian, perhaps he would not have offered it to you."

Dealer—Yes, but think how easy it was to sharpen.—New York Weekly.

FIRST VIEW OF WHITE MEN

The Rifle and Burning Glass Frightened the Indians.

It is small wonder that the first view of a white man created terror among the superstitious Indians. A striking instance of this occurred when the Wallawalla Indians first saw Captain Clark of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Thinking to propitiate the savages and allay their fears of the white men, he planned to visit a village of the Wallawallas before the arrival of the rest of his party.

With this end in view, he set out to cross the Columbia river in a canoe, taking three men with him. On the way he shot a crane and a duck, both of which fell near him. He landed before five wigwams placed close to each other, but not a person was visible, and the doors, which were of mat, were closed. Holding his pipe in hand, as an indication of good will, he pushed aside one of the doors and entered the lodge.

Inside were thirty men, women and children huddled together in terror. He went to them, shook each by the hand and said some friendly words, expressing by word and manner his kindly feeling. Their apprehensions were allayed until he took out his burning glass and lighted his pipe by the rays of the sun. Consternation again prevailed, and what might have occurred but for the timely arrival of two chiefs who knew the white men cannot be told.

It seems that the Indians had not seen Captain Clark, but they had seen the white crane which he had shot fall just before his appearance. They had also seen the duck fall at his shot. They connected the fall of the birds with his advent and thought he had fallen from the clouds.

The sound of the rifle, which they had never before heard, they believed was a signal to announce the white man's coming. Small wonder, then, that their hardly allayed fears were again aroused when he brought down fire from heaven by means of his burning glass.—Youth's Companion.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Large roosters with small hens is a very poor combination.

Scalded milk and cooked rice will often stop diarrhea in fowls.

Indigestion, one of the worst diseases among poultry, is often caused by sour, moldy food.

Eggs intended to be hatched in an incubator should never be allowed to become chilled.

In order to have poultry tender and juicy they must be fattened quickly. Two weeks of good feeding are usually sufficient.

Use plenty of lime in the poultry house. It will kill lice, is a good disinfectant, will purify the air, it destroys vermin and prevents gapes.

One of the best ways of feeding oats to poultry is to put them in a tub at night, pour scalding water over them, let them stand until morning and feed them warm.

When the fowls are closely confined or when the ground is covered with snow, they must have bulky food. Cut clover hay well steamed is good, as are also cabbage leaves.

Some of Burns' Phrases.

Here are a few specimens of Burns' happy phrases: "The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley;" "The fear of hell 's the hangman's whip, to haud the wretch in order;" "But pleasures are like poppies spread; you seize the flower, its bloom is shed;" "Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us to see ourselves as ithers see us;" "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn;" "Nursing her wrath to keep it warm;" "The mirth and fun grew fast and furious;" "What's done we partly may compute, but know not what's resisted;" "Princes and lords are but the breath of kings;" "The rank is but the guinea stamp; a man's a man for a' that."

Removing Tumors Early.

If it were generally known among intelligent people that great numbers of innocent tumors sooner or later become malignant and that malignant tumors often simulate benign tumors and remain quiescent for a great while, the sufferers would unhesitatingly consent to the removal of these morbid growths in their inception, long before the possible advent of serious mischief, or when the cure might be effected by minor operations which would leave the smallest scars, especially in such parts as the face, neck, arms or hands.

The Rubber.

"I made an angel cake that was elegant and one that was awful," said Maud. "This is the third, and it will decide as to whether or not I can be considered an expert."

"I could tell this was the rubber," said Harry as he tried the cake. "It tastes like it."

Insinuating.

"I didn't ring your fare up yet," said the conductor, holding out his hand.

"Oh, that's all right," whispered the passenger who was trying to evade paying. "Just keep it in your pocket. I won't tell the company."—Chicago News.

Mercenary.

"But you don't think he's mercenary, papa?"

"Why, yes, I do. I'm afraid he regards marriage as a get rich quick scheme."—Puck.

METHODIST HOME

Now Located at Granville In the Granville Female College Property Which Is Owned by a Newark Company--Old People Arrived Thursday.

Granville, O., Jan. 8—Twenty old people, eighteen women and two men, of the Methodist Home for the Aged, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, which was recently destroyed by fire, arrived here this afternoon and were immediately domiciled in their new quarters in the Granville Female College main building. Miss Myra A. Sheppard, the superintendent of the Home, has been here for ten days getting things in readiness for their reception. The building has been completely overhauled and repaired, and is now in every way fitted for the purpose that has been designed for it. The old people, several of them being past 43 years of age, were accompanied from Yellow Springs by the president of the institution, Dr Weakley

The Granville Female College property, fronting 200 feet on Broadway and also 200 feet on College street, being 400 feet deep, was recently purchased by the Newark Real Estate and Improvement Company. This was one of the best known schools for girls west of the Alleghenies for many years. It is a large structure and with the improvements that have been made on it the building will make an ideal home for the Methodist old people. The property has been leased for only a period of 15 months until the Methodists can build a home of their own.

METHODIST HOME FOR AGED, GRANVILLE, O.

Mrs Elmira Evans, an old and highly respected resident of this place, died at her home on North Main street at an early hour on Wednesday morning after an illness of some time with Bright's disease. The deceased was a daughter of the late William Scott, and ETAOIN gk vbgk qqaqatgatbgkqjatat was the mother of three children, one of whom, Arthur Evans, preceded her to the grave. Two daughters, Mrs. Owen Evans, and Miss Cora Evans, survive her The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

A Wife Says:

"We have four children. With the first three I suffered almost unbearable pains from 12 to 14 hours, and had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. I used three bottles of Mother's Friend before our last child came, which is a strong, fat and healthy boy, doing my housework up to within two hours of birth, and suffered but a few hard pains. This liniment is the grandest remedy ever made."

Mother's Friend

will do for every woman what it did for the Minnesota mother who writes the above letter. Not to use it during pregnancy is a mistake to be paid for in pain and suffering. Mother's Friend equips the patient with a strong body and clear intellect, which in turn are imparted to the child. It relaxes the muscles and allows them to expand. It relieves morning sickness and nervousness. It puts all the organs concerned in perfect condition for the final hour, so that the actual labor is short and practically painless. Danger of rising or hard breasts is altogether avoided, and recovery is merely a matter of a few days.

SMILE AS YOU GO.

Everybody Loves the Man With a Shining Countenance.

Brighter than the most brilliant of gems, electrifying with a radiance that does not dazzle so much as it calls forth a reflection of brightness, is the shining countenance.

The soul of each man is a sun of infinite energy and glorious light. But how few allow themselves to shine! How few faces are lit up with their possible divine life!

Take your thoughts away from the swamps of fear and evil, center them on the ideals of faith and love, on good intentions for others, and your countenance is at once illuminated.

Look in a mirror, and you shall see that my words are true. Absolve yourself of all troubles, be peaceful, be still, cease all your repining; then your countenance will shine.

That such an instantaneous physical change can take place by a change of thought suggests what power there is in a renewed habit of thought, a habit created by repeated conscious repose-ful efforts of calm, concentrated thinking in line with the ideal.

Not only is the countenance changed by a bright thought, but the whole body. The atoms are so many vortices of ether, and the central force of each is the mind.

A shining countenance is a smiling countenance. Look on life rightly, and you cannot but be pleased. Then you will smile, you will laugh with joy, because of life's possibilities.

You have perhaps desired to reach greater heights of power. You will reach them easier if you will but smile as you go.

There is every reason why the heart should be glad, and your love for others will show this so. This is the sunshine that expresses itself in your countenance. The mere fact of loving drives away fear and darkness. All false conceptions of duty, the conclusions of a biased reasoning, vanish at the appearance of love.

Every one loves the sunshiny days, and every one loves the man whose soul or individual sun shines through his face.

Such a man will be trusted wherever he is He is an interpreter of life; he will intuitively grasp the meaning of things; he will be welcomed everywhere; he will recognize all and he will be recognized by all; he will be received as the Son of Man, a true exemplar of his race, a leader in the evolution of humanity; he will be an encouragement and an incentive to all.

A shining countenance is first of all an immediate phenomenon expressive of the proof of right thinking, and the same source of this illustration contains the potency of completely changing character, body, surroundings, of influencing the person, the community, the race, of issuing forth from its infinite, solar center great stream of life, giving out more vigor, raising the whole realm of existence to the higher plane. —Fred Burry.

The reduction of aluminum to metal is now progressing in America on what would have been regarded ten years ago as a stupendous scale, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.
